Electronic Medical Record – as defined by CMC is a document management system used to scan and convert paper medical record documents into digital images for electronic storage, viewing and transmittals. The EMR system will be available onsite at CMC or from the computers in the UCSF Fresno Center.

All medical records, for patients discharged or having services provided at one of our three acute care facilities effective September 19th, 2005, will be available for viewing on-line and will need to be completed and signed electronically in EMR.

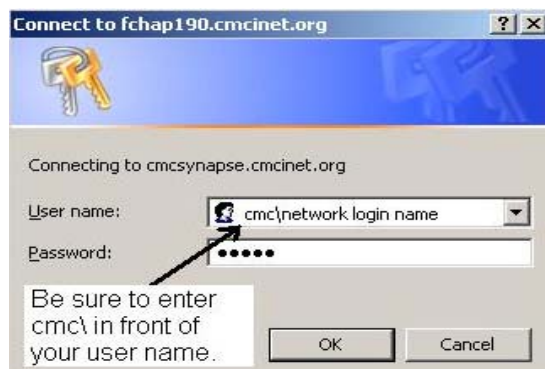

EMR Enables

- you to electronically verify and sign dictated transcriptions
- you to perform chart completions on-line and access deficiency worklists
- immediate access to historical patient information that can assist in patient care
- physicians, clinicians, and authorized staff to view patients' medical records simultaneously online regardless of their location
