

SJV PRIME CL Working Group Members

Overview of SJV PRIME leadership

A team of faculty will lead the SJV PRIME program. This team will implement the SJV PRIME program during the entire medical school curriculum: F1, F2, and career launch. This team will ensure that the curricular elements of the SJV PRIME curriculum, which are done in parallel to the UCSF MD curriculum, are implemented for the students during their time at both UCSF and UCSF Fresno. This team will ensure the curriculum, while meeting the core competencies of the UCSF MD curriculum, meets the goals and objectives of the SJV PRIME curriculum. The SJV PRIME leadership team is composed of an SJV PRIME Director at UCSF Fresno, an Associate Director at UCSF, and an Assistant director at UCSF Fresno. UC Merced faculty and education leadership also play a key role in the SJV PRIME program and work closely with the UCSF/UCSF Fresno leadership. While the ultimate responsibility for ensuring that the SJV PRIME program meets the UCSF SOM guidelines and requirements and fully implements the Bridges curriculum lies with the SJV PRIME Director, the leadership team works as a group to lead this program.

Areas of particular focus are as follows:

Foundations 1 – Associate Director

Foundations 2 – Director

Career Launch – Assistant Director

In addition to the SJV PRIME leadership team, several Fresno-based faculty roles with salary support have been developed.

CL working group leaders:

These faculty members will work with the Assistant Director on developing the clinical aspects of the Career Launch (CL) in Fresno.

The role of these faculty members is to design clinical rotations for SJV PRIME students in CL.

These includes the following:

- a. Advanced clinical rotations: core skills
- b. Advanced clinical rotations: advance elective skills
- c. SPANs (Specialty Practice Ambulatory sub-iNternships).
- d. Details about these curriculum requirements can be found here.

While these faculty members will be selected from various departments to allow representation across the spectrum in designing CL clinical experiences, faculty members will be expected to work with departments other than their own because this small number of faculty cannot represent all departments.

These positions will be end June 2024. Each position has 10% accompanying salary support.
